Virginia Legislature.

Yesterday, the House received several Reports from the committee of propositions and grievances, and of roads and internal navigation—also, a communication from the Governor, enclosing the resolutions of several State Legislatures, on amendments proposed to the Constitution of the U. States, previously acted on by the Legislature of Virginia.

A petition was received and referred from the Monongalia Farmers' Company of Virginia, praying for a bank charter.

The following preamble and report were presented by Mr. Maury, on the part of the committee of courts of justice:

The committee for courts of justice have, according to order, had under consideration the petition of Ann P. P. Cowper, to them referred, & have agreed to a report, and come to the following resolution thereupon.

It appears to your committee, that in the year 1802, the petitioner was married to a certain William Cowper—that until the death of her father, col. Josiah Parker which happened in 1816, she remained only six months under the control of her husband having been compelled, shortly after their marriage, to seek support from her father, in consequence of pecuniary distress, and afterwards to return to his protection to avoid the cruelties of her husband—that from the death of her father to the present time, his life presents only a history of the most inhuman and savage conduct towards the petitioner and her children—that while pregnant, he treated her with such brutality as to endanger her life; that he ordered her to destroy her unborn infant, and threatened to murder her for non-compliance—That in sixteen days after a premature birth, when his cruelties had occasioned he dragged her by her feet all over her room—that he attempted to starve her to death, in which he probably would have succeeded, but for the secret aid of her servants: That he detained from her her infant child until it was reduced almost to the grave by the loss of its natural food. That he has choked her severely, whipped her with a large carriage whip, destroyed her furniture and clothes manifested an intention to murder her in her sleep, driven her from the house, left her by her father—in short, that he has practised almost every enormity that could possibly be suggested by the most depraved and abandoned heart—And finally that the estate left by the petitioner's father to herself and children is useless to them, and waiving daily, her friends being restrained by the savage disposition of her husband from aiding in its management, and being unable to act herself, in consequence of her connection with him.

Resolved, therefore as the opinion of this committee, that the petition of the said Ann P. P. Cowper, praying to be divorced a mensa et thoro from her said husband, William Cowper, is reasonable.

It will be observed, that the preceding report only contemplates a divorce from bed and board, as the lawyers call it, this is all that Mrs. Cowper had prayed for.—But gen. Blackburn moved, that the resolution should be amended, so as to divorce her a vinculo matrimonii—that is from all the ties of marriage.—Which motion prevailed without a division.

After receiving a petition from Wood county in favor of establishing schools; the House adjourned.

Reported for the National Advocate.

Marine Court.

Phillips vs.—Hadley,

Mr. Justice Scott delivered the opinion of the court.

This is an action brought by plaintiff, as a proprietor of the National Advocate, for the sale and delivery of that paper to the defendant, charging from the 1st, March, 1814, to the 7th October, 1816, at the rate of $10 per year. John H. Edwards, the carrier, testifies, that previous to the 1st January, he commenced leaving the said paper at defendant's house, that on that day he presented a new year's address, as usually done (to subscribers) to the defendant, headed the "National Advocate," directed to the patrons of the paper; and that the defendant gave him 50 cents, that he continued to deliver that paper regularly every morning until sometime in October last, that on the 1st January, 1815, he presented another new year's address to said defendant, at which time he received 25 cents, that the first conversation he ever had with defendant relative to the paper, was sometime in September last, defendant denied ever having subscribed for or ordered said paper, said there must be some mistake about it, but offered to pay $10 to plaintiff for the time he had received said paper, and said it was worth no more. Defendant admitted the delivery of it for the time charged by plaintiff, but insisted it was without any authority from him.

Though there is no express promise on the part of the defendant to pay the value of the paper delivered to him, yet there seems to be sufficient in this case to raise an implied assumpsit.

The defendant must have known that the carrier was the agent of the plaintiff. The fact of his presenting him with the new year's address, as the patron and subscriber of that paper, sufficiently announced that character, and the defendant at that time giving him 50 cents was certainly a strong circumstance that he fully recognized him in the capacity assumed. From this conduct of the defendant, the agent of the plaintiff could draw no other conclusion than that the defendant considered himself a subscriber, nor could he represent to the plaintiff any other impression, and more especially when not one word was said to induce a contrary belief. But this conclusion gains strength, when we consider the defendant still continued to receive the paper, went on to another year, again received the new year's address, headed the "National Advocate," asking him as a subscriber, and again defendant presented a compliment to the carrier. And thus he went on in perfect silence, receiving the paper for a period of two years and seven months, without any denial on his part that he was a subscriber, until last September, and offering to the carrier $10, to be paid to the plaintiff for said paper, observing, it was worth no more.

Those facts certainly warrant the plaintiff to look beyond this estimated value, of the defendant on a quantum meruit. Both reason and justice dictate that the defendant should have been more consistent in his actions, and should not have conducted himself in such way as to authorize a belief that he received the paper as an ordinary subscriber, if he did not intend to pay for it because it was holding out false colors in order to induce the plaintiff to send him his paper, and therefore, to use and receive the benefit of a publication, the labor and materials of another, without a compensation.

Judgment for plaintiff, $25 83.

CHARLESTON Nov. 20

Rondeaux, Oct 10

"The price of short staple Cotton kept up for some time, from 220 a 225¢ in bond, but within a few days the demand has relaxed, the consumers holding back, under the idea that the new cotton will be coming to market soon, and that prices will then decline. This has already had the effect of reducing our prices about 10¢, and the best short staple is not worth at present more than 225¢. I am myself induced to think that it will experience a further reduction, but a very material one; and from 200¢ a 210¢ for good qualities, will, in my opinion, be the price for some time, as the winter is the great season for its consumption.

By letters from your city, I am led to believe that the prices with you will open at about 25¢; and should it be the case, a shipment to this could not fail to turn out advantageously, for you will perceive that 185¢, agreeable to the following statement, will cover that price:—

Supposing a bale weighing 300lbs. to cost 25 cents 75¢

Freight of 300 lbs. at 8 cents, and 5 per cent primeage 9 45

Insurance on 75 at 24 per cent 1 87

Charges of commission 24 pr. ct 11 12 16 12

1438 92

The last sale of long staple was at 335¢ duty paid: the probable price for this quality in bond, will be from 300 a 310¢.

Rice is worth $2½, and the first that arrives of the new crop, may probably bring 35¢; but it would not be prudent to calculate on more than 31¢ for a standing price.

There is no sale for tobacco. Skins of every description are in great demand. Colonial produce meets a ready sale. Brandy and Wines are very high, and will probably get up, as we are not likely to have any vintage this year."

Copy of a letter from the Doctor of the Spanish brig Africano, to his friend in this city, dated

"The Is and St. Antonio, Oct. 9.

"Respected Sir—I have to inform you that on the 30th of September, at 6 o'clock, P. M. while in sight of this island, and while sitting to the table at supper, myself, the Spanish captain, capt. Burk, the first and second mates, the crew rushed all with boarding pikes, surrounding us, & presenting them to our breasts; the second mate at the same instant, rising from the table, declared the brig to be his, and ordered the Spanish captain, captain Burk, supercargo, Joseph Rafan, purser, and myself into the fore-castle; they all armed themselves immediately with side arms and pistols from the arm chest, and went to plundering the vessel; in a short time they all appeared to be intoxicated, and in the greatest rage against us, they threatened our lives. At 10 o'clock P. M. the cutter was put over the brig's side for our reception, and all ordered to get in her—myself, captain S. Cove, Walter Burk, supercargo, Joseph Rafan, purser, John Tansley, first officer, and eight seamen that would not join them, with the boatswain—they robbed us of nearly all our clothing and money; the Spanish captain and the purser had not a shifting suit. They took the captain's watch from his pocket, his pen-knife, &c. they gave us a small bag of bread and a few gallons of water, some herrings, after our long landing: we were then about 40 or 50 miles from the island, the wind and current against us, but after violent fatigue for two days and nights, we arrived safe here. The brig went immediately in chase of a ship which was in sight after disposing of us in the manner they did. Captain Burk carries this to Baltimore in a Portuguese brig; no other person could get a passage in her, as she has several passengers already. The people here are very friendly and particularly the governor, with whom we live. The brig belonged to Havana: the second mate, who is at the head of the revolt, is named Daniel McKinnon: they were going to cruise under the Carthaginian flag."

Philadelphia, Nov. 24.

NEW PLAN OF ROBBING!

We are informed, that a few days since a man of genteel appearance applied to a store keeper in Market street for permission to leave his trunk in the store during the night, representing that it contained dry goods of value, but that the waggon which was to take it to the westward would not be ready to receive it till the next day, when he would send for it. The store keeper very readily consented, and the trunk was accordingly deposited in his store. During the night a neighbor opposite observed a light in the store; which being an unusual thing, he communicated the circumstance to the owner early in the morning.

Suspicious being thus excited, officers were immediately sent for, and after a strict search throughout the store, no thief could be discovered, but several articles of valuable merchandise were missing. At length it was deemed expedient to examine the stranger's trunk; when lo! the gentleman was found profoundly enveloped in the stolen goods!—It is presumed he had his accomplices out of doors, who were to have called in the morning and carried him & his booty off in triumph.

Since writing the above, we learn that two men called at the store next morning, with an order for the trunk, and were immediately apprehended.

We perceive, by a late Baltimore Pa triot, that there has arisen a discussion between the government of the United States and his excellency the French mi nister, relative to an insult given to his Christian Majesty, by the postmaster of the city of Baltimore, at a public dinner on the 4th of July last. In commenting on this article, the National Intelligencer in its semi-official tone, gives an air of confirmation to what might, in the first instance, have been considered as a mere rumor. A more clear and dispassionate account of the case, we think, ought to be given to the public, before a correct opi nion can be formed of the merits of the differences said to be pending on this oc casion.
It is probable that the French minister, whom we believe to be an advocate and an admirer of the liberty of the press, and of national independence, in his own country, would not attempt to impose a restraint, on our usual privileges in this particular, but he probably may feel some hostility from these licentious po liticians, especially when they are public agents, whom he would, no doubt, like to see more reserved in expression towards his sovereign, who is the brother and suc cessor of an ancient ally and friend of this independent government; and would wish the same decorum to be shown him by the public papers, that the American minister in France has generally received as a proof of the esteem for his govern ment and nation.
We are of opinion, with the National Intelligencer, that this discussion will not be the occasion of an interruption of the good understanding that exists be tween us and the French government;
but if, by the freedom of our institution, an agent of the government should un wittingly insult a foreign sovereign's re presentative residing amongst us, we can not wonder, if the aggrieved should seek for redress, by application to the execu tive, on behalf of his sovereign, whom he will, of course, consider as unjustly tra duced, in the eyes of the nation, that he may have the honor to represent.
We would observe, with regard to the mode of the attack on the French govern ment, that the language is coarse and un gentlemanly, by descending to common a buse; and that the friends of Louis com plain that all our political feeling are regu lated by prejudices of certain exiles late ly arrived among us who seem to have tak en an almost exclusive hold of the public papers; while on the other hand, the Bourbons have only had a partial hearing and that in the most unfavorable colours from the misrepresentations of their po litical enemies. These are points which we do not presume to meddle with, and think that upon consideration of the mat ter of discussion before us, the public opi nion had better be suspended till all the particulars are before them.
Washington City Gazette.

A late Belfast paper contains two af fadvits relative to the distressed situation of Irish emigrants in the U. States: one by Thomas Reid, weaver, and the other by Tom Boyd, both of whom returned to Ireland in the Ship West Point, from this port. They state that hundreds of Irishmen were in the greatest distress when they left N. York, and nothing pre vented their return but the want of mo ney to pay their passages.

Reid further states that he travelled 300 miles into the country, but could get no employment in the way of his trade.

LEICESTER, Sept. 29.
The officers who signalized themselves in the battle, enjoy the Dey's entire con fidence. Surrounded by the officers of his army, and placed on the position which was most damaged, the Dey said to the people—
"We are not conquered. The enemy have attacked us with arms with which we are not acquainted, and which are properly their own. They have seduced cowards by their promises and their gold.
But what African would have riches which are not the fruits of his courage.
We sign peace, but we sign it with glory and if the enemy celebrate the day as having conquered us, we shall in our turn celebrate it as one of those in which we have done most injury to the enemy."
"Soldiers, and you, nation of heroes, never forget your fathers. They live—they will live for ever, and will be ho mored among the people of other shores.
These people cease to exist in dying, and have only a fleeting power. In dying yours is extinguished, but it rapidly revives.
Remembrances shall be given, not to cou rage, for that is your native virtue, but to those who have suffered most by the bom bardment."

The Dey delivered this harangue while the English squadron was still in sight, and the people replied to him with cries of approbation. They followed the Dey, kissing his robes. Since the departure of his squadron, he has always appeared in an undress and armed. He attends to the repairs of the fortifications and encour ages the workmen.

Extract of a letter from Rotterdam, Oc tober 3—received at Boston.
"Since our last advice, commerce in general has improved, and we can give much better accounts of several of the principal articles in the market. Ashes are in continued and great demand; they would command a steady sale as quoted, but none has arrived. Coffee is request ed, the article has fully advanced 1-3s.
Cotton remains scarce, and sells readily at the former quotations. The demand for dye wood, increased at the actual low prices. Buenos Ayres hides plenty; the sale is rather heavy and prices moderate.
Little business is done in indigo, large stock on hand. Black pepper, slow at the advanced quotations, a good deal remains in the market. Rice has taken another start, little of it is left in the hands of im porters, there is a quick sale as quoted.
A considerable demand for refined sug ars, increased the value of the raw, prices advanced to the full extent of our quotations, and the article generally finds a ready sale. The request for Maryland tobacco is steady, but Virginia and Ca rolinea continue to be depressed, and prices are almost nominal; holders in general refuse to take the offers which are occasionally made. Zante currants support as quoted. Whale oil commands a ready sale and is high priced.

Frederick the Great
Was fully sensible of the contagious nature of liberty. He knew that the spi rit of freedom was epidemic and he did not choose to employ his subjects in any mode that could put them in the way of catching the disorder. When Dr.
Franklin applied to him to lend his as sistance to America, "Pray, Doctor, (says the veteran,) what is the object they mean to attain?" "Liberty, sire, (replied the philosopher,) liberty—that freedom which is the birth right of man."
The King after a short pause, made this memorable answer: "I was born a Prince; I am become a King; and I will not use the power I possess to the ruin of my trade. I was born to command —and the people are born to obey."

Genuine Masonry.
The well known sign we mark, and fly
The wound to heal—to still the sigh,
And wipe the tear from sorrow's eye,
For our's the aim is, our's the art,
To meliorate the human heart;

Of wild desires, to stem the flood,
And act as if of kindred blood.

PRINTING
neatly executed at the Office of the A lexandria Gazette.

JAMES KENNEDY & SON,

BOOKSELLERS, KING STREET,
Have just received from LEE'S PATENT MEDICINE STORE, No. 46 Maiden Lane, N. York.
A FRESH SUPPLY
Of the following genuine Medicines.
For the prevention and cure of Bilious and Malignant Fevers, is recommended.

Hahn's Anti-Bilious Pills.

THIS Medicine has been attended with a degree of success highly grateful to the inventor's feelings, in several parts of the West Indies, and the Southern & Middle States, particularly in N. York, Philadelphia, Baltimore, Petersburg, Richmond, Norfolk, Edenton, Wilmington, Charleston, and Savannah. The testimony of a number of persons at each of the above places, can be adduced, who have reason to believe, that a timely use of this salutary remedy has, under Providence, preserved their lives, when in the most alarming circumstances.

Facts of this conclusive nature speak more in favour of a medicine than columns of pompous eulogy, founded on mere assertion.

It is not, indeed, presumptuously proposed as an infallible cure, but the inventor has every possible reason that can result from extensive experience, for believing that a dose of these Pills, taken once in every two weeks, during the prevalence of our bilious fevers, will prove an infallible preventative; and further, that in the earlier stages of those diseases, their use will very generally succeed in restoring health, and frequently in cases esteemed desperate, and beyond the power of common remedies.

The operation of these pills is perfectly mild, so as to be used with safety by persons in every situation, and of every age. They are excellently adapted to carry off superfluous bile & prevent its morbid secretions—to restore & amend the appetite—to produce a free perspiration and thereby prevent colds which is so often of fatal consequences. A dose never fails to remove a cold if taken on its first appearance—they are celebrated for removing habitual costiveness—sickness at the stomach and severe head-ache—and ought to be taken by all persons on a change of climate.

They have been found remarkably efficacious in preventing and curing disorders attendant on long voyages, and should be procured and carefully preserved for use by every seaman.

HAMILTON'S WORM DESTROYING LOZENGES.

Which have cured an immense number of persons of both sexes, of every age, and in every situation, of various dangerous complaints arising from worms, and from obstructions of the bowels in their stomach and bowels.

This medicine bears no analogy whatever to others of similar titles, so commonly complained of, as operating with violence; on the contrary, a particular excellence of this remedy is its being suited to every age and constitution. It contains nothing but what is perfectly innocent, and is also mild in its operation, cannot injure the most delicate pregnant lady or the tenderest infant of a week old, should no worms exist in the body; but will, without pain or crying, cleanse the stomach and bowels, of whatever is foul or offensive, and thereby prevent the production of worms, and many fatal disorders. The lozenges are particularly efficacious in carrying off all gross humours and eruptions, feverish and bilious complaints, and are the safest and mildest purgative that can be used on any occasion.

DESCRIPTION OF WORMS.

And the symptoms by which they are known:

Worms which infest the human body are chiefly of four kinds, viz.—The Terebra, or large round worm; the Ascarides, or small maw-worm; the Cucurbitaria, or short, flat, white worm; and lastly, the Tenebris, or tape-worm, so called from its resemblance to tape. This is often many yards long, and is full of joints. It is most hurtful and most difficult to remove.

Among the symptoms attending worms are—disagreeable breath, especially in the morning; bad and corrupted gums; itching in the nose, and about the seat; convulsions, epileptic fits, and sometimes privation of speech; starting and grinding of the teeth in sleep; irregular appetite; sometimes loathing food, and sometimes voracious; purging, with slimy & fetid stools; vomiting; large and hard belly; pains and sickness at the stomach; slow fever, with small and irregular pulse; a dry cough; excessive thirst; sometimes pale and unhealthy countenance, and sometimes the face bloated and flushed.

Persons afflicted with any of the above symptoms, should have immediate recourse to Hamilton's Worm Destroying Lozenges, which have been constantly attended with success, in all complaints similar to those above described.

A dose of this medicine given occasionally during the warm season, will effectually prevent the vomiting and purging of children—a dreadful disorder, which annually destroys thousands of the infant part of our citizens. It is likewise the mildest and most certain remedy known, and has restored to health and strength a great number, when in an advanced stage of this fatal complaint. Particular and plain instructions are given for every part of the necessary treatment in such cases.

Children generally take this medicine with eagerness; having a pleasing appearance, and an agreeable taste.

Hamilton's Essence and Extract of Mustard.

A safe and effectual remedy for acute and chronic rheumatism, gout, asthmatic, gout, palsy, lumbago, numbness, white swellings, chilblains, sprains, bruises, pain in the face and neck, &c.

The Genuine Persian Lotion.

So celebrated among the fashionable throughout Europe, is an invaluable cosmetic, perfectly innocent and safe, free from corrosive and repellant minerals, (the basis of other lotions) and of unparalleled efficacy in removing blemishes of the face and skin, freckles, pimples, inflammatory redness, scurfs, tetter, ringworms, sunburns, prickly heat, &c. The Persian Lotion operates mildly, without impeding the natural insensible perspiration, which is essential to health, yet its effects are speedy and permanent, rendering the skin delicately soft and smooth and improving the complexion.

The Restorative Powder for the teeth and Gums.

This excellent preparation comforts and strengthens the gums, preserves the enamel from decay, and cleanses and whitens the teeth, by absorbing all the acrimonious slime and foulness, which suffered to accumulate, never fails to injure and finally ruin them.

Hamilton's Grand Restorative.

Is recommended as an invaluable medicine for the speedy relief and permanent cure of the various complaints resulting from dissipated pleasures, juvenile indiscretions, residence in climates unfavourable to the constitution, the immoderate use of tea, frequent intoxication or any other destructive intemperance, the unskillful or excessive use of mercury, the diseases peculiar to females at a certain period of life, bad lyings in, &c.

HAMILTON'S ELIXIR.

Sovereign remedy for Colic, obstinate Coughs, Asthma, sore throats, and approaching Consumptions, and most disorders of the breast and lungs.

Hahn's genuine Eye Water.

A sovereign remedy for all diseases of the eyes, whether the effect of natural weakness or of accident.

Tooth Ache Drops.

The only remedy yet discovered which gives immediate and lasting relief in the most severe instances.

Lee's Ointment for the Itch.

Warranted an infallible remedy at one application, may be used with perfect safety on infants a week old, not containing a particle of mercury or any dangerous ingredient whatever, and not accompanied with that tormenting smart which attends the application of other remedies.

Lee's Infallible Ague and Fever Drops.

For the cure of agues, remittent, and intermittent fevers.

Hahn's true & genuine German Corn Plaster.

At the place of sale pamphlets may be had gratis, describing cures performed by the above medicines; the number, importance and respectability of which, fully justify every article of this advertisement.
